6. Read the following passage carefully and answer items (a) – (d) in the spaces provided.

One day the Head Teacher was passing near our classroom and heard us making noise. She entered the class and ordered us to mention the names of students, who were making noise, but we kept quiet and we did not mention any names.

The Head Teacher became very angry because we did not mention the names of the students who were making noise. She said, “you are not transparent and integrity students.” She continued to tell us about the behaviours of a transparent and an integrity person. She said that a transparent and an integrity person cannot hide evils and tell lies. Also, she said that the transparent and an integrity person is assisted in time when in need.

After that, the class leader asked for forgiveness on behalf of the class. He promised to supervise the discipline of the class and write the names of all who make noise. The Head Teacher was happy and left. On our part, we were determined to be transparent and children with integrity.
